Archives of Ophthalmological Research

From the Editor; Starting the Second Year...

We have completed our first year with the scientific contributions of researchers and the devoted support of our referees. In the new year, we want to add up-to-date and higher-impact value studies to the literature by working more and producing more. Our aim is Journal of Archives of Ophthalmological Research to be included in the national publication indexes as soon as possible. In this process, your valuable contributions are very important for us to move forward together toward this goal.

With our deepest respects...

Prof. Dr. Uğur ACAR
